Japs Shoot Down 49 Russian Fliers Bombing Manchukuo, Tokyo Claims

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, June 23—Routing of a vast Soviet air armada of 150 planes, with 49 sent crashing to the ground by a handful of Japanese aircraft, was reported today in army dispatches telling of intensified Soviet aerial activity on the Manchukuoan-Outer Mongolian border.

One of the tensest situations in the history of turbulent Russo-Japanese relations arose when, according to a communique from the Kwantung (Japanese Continental) army headquarters at Hsinking, Manchukuo, 150 Soviet airplanes soared across the Manchu border at 4 p. m. Thursday.

They were promptly engaged by 18 Japanese planes, the dispatch asserted, and 49 Soviet and five Japanese craft were brought down.

GREATEST AIR BATTLE

This, the greatest air battle ever reported in that area, climaxed a series of Soviet offenses, according to the Japanese, in which 16 other raids were carried out from Soviet-controlled Outer Mongolia.

All the attacks took place, Kwantung army advices said, in the vicinity of Lake Buir, through which the Manchukuoan-Mongolian boundary, never clearly defined, runs east and west at a point where the two states dovetail.

Hsinking dispatches to Domei, Japanese official news agency, told of earlier raids on five towns near Lake Buir. Attributing the charges to a spokesman for the Kwantung army, Domei said:

"Soviet and Outer Mongol air forces, which had been silent since the Nomonhan incident, in which they suffered serious losses, resumed activity June 17.

LOSES 108 PLANES

(Around 700 Mongol troops were killed June 1 near Nomonhan in an "invasion" of Manchukuo, the Kwantung army charged at that time. In connected aerial battles, 59 Soviet airplanes were brought down, so today's claims would make the total of Soviet aerial losses 108. Minor land and naval clashes have occurred over a period of years along the rivers and land boundaries of Siberia and Manchukuo.

"More than a dozen planes at 6 a. m., June 17, raided Haronalshal, bombing the town and causing some casualties among the civilians," Domei continued.

"Again, at 7 a. m., June 17, the same hour June 19, 17 Soviet planes raided Kanjurmiao, on the northern shore of Lake Buir, where their bombs destroyed one private house and 500 cases of

$2,370,000 SLASH IN STATE BUDGET

Slashing $2,370,000 from the first biennial budget submitted by the Legislature, Governor Saltonstall today moved for state expenditures that would be $1,200,000 less in 1939 than last year and $2,300,000 less in 1940 than in 1938.

The budget totals, as submitted by the governor today—and in comparison with the 1938 figure of $77,120,872—are $75,853,523 for 1939 and $74,782,284 for 1940.

Thus from the original budget recommendations nearly $58,000,000 has now been trimmed. Today's cut was the largest ever made by any governor.

SLASHES 54 ITEMS

A two-thirds vote will be necessary, under the Constitution, to override the governor's action on any one of the 54 items he has vetoed in the budget and the two items he has reduced.

The 54 specific allotments he vetoed range from $504 to more than $100,000.

The reductions he made are in state employes' travel and meal allowances, the travel allowance being reduced from six cents to four and one-half cents a mile.

Most of the items Governor Saltonstall ordered eliminated were for buildings, renovations and repairs in various state institutions.

He also indicated, however, that he would press strongly for his still-pending, sweeping program of consolidation and abolition of state bureaus and that he would insist strongly upon his $50,000,000 new taxation program.

Conceding that he himself had recommended some of the items now vetoed, the governor said:

"Developments show they must now be postponed in view of the general grave financial situation."

MUST CUT EXPENSES

His reason for eliminating them, he added, was "based on further research and information not immediately available when the budget was previously before you."

"The magnitude of meeting reimbursements and debt," the gov-

BRITISH CALL JAP ENVOY ON CARPET

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu was called to the British foreign office today for consultation on what Prime Minister Chamberlain termed "intolerable insults" to British by Japanese at Tientsin.

The prime minister told the Commons Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax had asked the Japanese ambassador to see him and that Halifax would "make it very clear" what he thought of the new incidents reported last night.

Asked if the British government would put retaliatory measures into operation at once, Chamberlain said:

"I do not think we have got to that stage yet."

Jap Guards Slap, Strip New Zealand Official

TIENTSIN, June 23 (AP)—Cecil Davis honorary agent in Tientsin for the New Zealand government, asserted tonight he had been slapped and forced to undress by Japanese gendarmes, who are continuing their searching practice begun ten days ago with blockade of the British and French concessions.

United States Consul Frederick W. Hinke earlier had made representations, which consulate attaches emphasized was not a formal protest, against inconveniences suffered by Americans at the concession barricades.

Davis, a British subject, yesterday was not molested when two companies were forced to strip for the Japanese gendarmes.

He said that today, however, he had to stand naked 15 minutes while a dozen foreign women passed the barrier and walked through the shed where he was detained.

Davis said he objected to the order to undress on the ground that he was an official whereupon a gendarme slapped him across the mouth with his passport.

Davis replied, "Thanks," and the gendarme slapped him again, and then a third time. The Japanese then summoned three colleagues and they forced the Briton to strip.

Boy Enjoys Bus Trip Along The Milky Way

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 23 (AP)—When Richard Lanterman, 11, left El Monte, Cal., last Sunday to come here by bus to visit his grandparents, his father, D. B. Lanterman, handed him $5, saying he could keep whatever he had left after buying his meals. Richard got here yesterday with $3.22. His chief diet, he said, was milk shakes.

JAIL MAN, GIRL FOR 'SURGERY'

Found guilty of having persuaded his own sweetheart to perform an illegal surgical operation on a 14-year-old girl, Howard M. Muise, 29, a Wakefield photo-engraver, was sentenced today to three to five years in state prison.

He broke down and sobbed in Middlesex superior court after Judge Wilford J. Gray had characterized him "as morally guilty as any man could be."

Miss Mildred J. Collins, 24, of Wakefield, the young woman convicted of performing the illegal surgery, was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction.

She accepted the penalty without show of emotion.

According to government evidence at the trial Muise had a clandestine love affair with the 14-year-old girl although he and Miss Collins were "keeping steady company."

On his promise to give up the other girl, Miss Collins agreed to perform the illegal operation, it was alleged.

Mrs. Rogers Seeks War Danger Facts

WASHINGTON, June 23 (INS)—With a rising tide of opposition to the Administration's neutrality program, President Roosevelt was called upon today to inform Congress whether official advices indicated "actual war is imminent between certain countries" in Europe.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.), Massachusetts, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, introduced a resolution which would direct the President to supply such information, if any, to Congress.

PERPETUAL CONGRESS

Mrs. Rogers also proposed another resolution for continuous session of Congress "in order to be in readiness to meet any eventuality that may arise out of war and to solve the domestic problem of unemployment."

In requesting information of the likelihood of war, Mrs. Rogers pointed out a statement by President Roosevelt at a recent press conference that Congress should enact neutrality legislation at this session.

The President explained that if war broke out without a neutrality policy the government might face a serious situation.

Meanwhile, the opposition to repeal of mandatory arms provisions

Teacher's Farewell To School--and Life

BROCKTON, June 23—It was hard to say goodbye . . .

It was harder to know that she was never coming back to the familiar Howard School classroom in Montello, which had meant so much to her—that never again would she stand facing the bright, eager young faces of the children she loved so much as they gleaned wisdom from her.

It was time to retire, of course—one is pretty weary at 65—and the school board had been so considerate, so kind, so helpful in voting retirement for her . . . And this was the last hour of the last day.

The children, watching their beloved teacher—Miss Anna C. Knight—sensed the tumult within her breast.

She started to speak, to give voice to that sad farewell it was so difficul to utter. Tears were very close. The children sat tense, waiting.

They saw her sway then, and her white fingers fluttered at the neck of her dress.

She could not go on. Turning quickly she left the room . . . A little while later, returning, she stumbled and fell, pitching down a flight of stairs. Principal Edwin A. Nelson rushed to her side, with Miss Nellie F. McAuliffe, a friend. They tried to revive her.

It was no use. She was dead.

The children, unnerved, were sent home. At noon the final bell sounded, and the rest trooped out into the open. It was over—school was over for the year. For Miss Knight school, and life, too, were over forever.

Miss Knight and her sister, Mabel, were retired at the same time. She had taught the fourth grade since 1908. Her sister taught the first grade. The two lived together, and had planned a long, restful trip.

The two lived with a third sister, Fannie, at 53 South street, Randolph.

DOROTHY LAMOUR
Radio Man "Broadcasts" His Love

Radio Man Awaiting Dotty Lamour's 'Yes'

NEW YORK, June 23—She's got that gleam in her eye as she straightens the tie of handsome young Stephen Fuld, Columbia broadcasting executive, so all of cafe society is asking if Dorothy Lamour, professional glamour girl No. 1, is in love with him.

He has already admitted that he's in love with her and only the lack of her "yes" holds up the wedding.

The budding romance might have gone unnoticed—such things can happen in busy New York to even such as she—had it not been for an annoyance out of her past which came up to slip her a summons while she and young Fuld were together in a night club.

DOROTHY IS ANGERED

The summons was notice of a suit for a total of $6000, filed against her by one Alfred C. Evans, orchestra leader, who asserts that it was his coaching and rehearsing which took her out of the uniform of a Chicago elevator girl and put her into a sarong in Hollywood.

Filed in the Supreme Court, Manhattan, it alleges that he taught her how to sing on "numerous occasions" between November 1, 1934, and June 1, 1935.

Dorothy fairly quivered with indignant protests when she discussed the matter, saying:

"It's not only ridiculous, it's outrageous. Why, my divorced husband, Herbie Kay, coached me for three years, and taught me all I know about singing."

EVERYBODY BLUSHES

Fuld nodded such vigorous support of her contention that automatically he became a part of the discussion with reporters when one asked:

"What have you got to do with it?" followed by: "Are you engaged to Miss Lamour?"

Fuld blushed, stammered. Miss Lamour blushed. Everybody blushed.

Later, when alone, Fuld said:

"We're from two different worlds. She's a public figure. I'm only a radio man. But I'm very fond of her—more so than of any other girl I ever knew. I'd marry her if she'd let me!"

JAILS YOUTH SHE EDUCATED WHEN HE WON'T WED GIRL

Charging that she had expended her entire fortune of $5000 in educating him in the belief that he was going to marry her daughter, Mrs. Antoinette Jenney of Cleveland, O., caused the arrest today of Theodore E. Ehouse, 29, a musical student at Middlesex University, Waltham.

The young man, specifically accused of larceny under false pretenses of $300, was arraigned in Waltham court and ordered held in $5000 until tomorrow. He was unable to make the bail and was locked up.

Mrs. Jenney, a widow, told her story to Chief of Police Asa E. McKenna.

Ehouse, who rooms at 91 Stow street, Waltham—his home is in Bridgeport, Conn.—paid ardent suit to her daughter, Helen, 25, Mrs. Jenney said. It was agreed, she continued, they were to be married, and in accordance with this understanding, she began to advance him money from the $5000 in insurance she obtained upon the death of her husband.

First off, she said, she gave him $750 for his tuition, which she later learned was only $450, and the $300 difference is the basis for the specific charge against him.

Since giving him the tuition money, she went on, she has advanced him various sums of as much as $500 at a time for instruments, books and living expenses.

She even bought him an auto-

FLOODS RAVAGE PITCAIRN ISLAND

NEW YORK, June 23 (INS)—First word of an epochal disaster—the worst flood in 60 years accompanied by roaring avalanches—reached New York today from tiny Pitcairn island in the South Pacific ocean.

Mrs. Herbert Young, wife of the new chief magistrate, and Andrew Young, operator of the now disabled radio station, wrote that the entire contour of the island had been changed.

Many homes of the descendants of the H.M.S. Bounty's mutineers were wrecked. Half the western harbor of the island was filled in by landslides. Water ran four feet deep in all the main roads.

Six letters, all describing the storm, were received by Mrs. Dorothy Hall, of Springfield, Mass., radio amateur.

Payment of $895.30 warrant, signed by Mayor Lawrence Gillis of Revere for "special services" said to have been rendered by his sister-secretary, Mrs. Loretta M. Burke, today was held up by the city treasurer. Gillis and Mrs. Burke are shown here.

Gillis' Sister's Pay Refused in Revere

Refusing to honor a warrant signed by Mayor Lawrence J. Gillis of Revere, City Treasurer Thomas U. Kelley of Revere today held up payment of $895.30 to the mayor's sister and present secretary, Mrs. Loretta M. Burke.

She is seeking cash recompense for "special services" allegedly rendered when Mayor Gillis was city tax collector and she was his $1400-a-year assistant.

City Treasurer Kelley charged today the mayor tried to "force through" the payment to his sister over the head of present Revere Tax Collector Clarence R. Borden.

CITES LONG'S RULING

Kelley said he declined to honor the mayor's warrant on advice of State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long.

Long ruled that the warrant was non-valid without Tax Collector Borden's signature, Kelley asserted.

He charged further that Mayor Gillis was showing favoritism toward his sister in seeking to have her claim given preference over other debts which were allegedly outstanding on the tax collector's books when Gillis relinquished that office.

LONG AT LOGGERHEADS

Today's action of City Treasurer Kelley climaxed a long and increasingly sharp series of clashes between Kelley and Mayor Gillis on financial matters.

Kelley claimed today he had won the support of Tax Commissioner Long on two issues other than that of the Mrs. Burke warrant.

Long ruled the city treasurer, not the mayor, must have the spending of $5000 recently appropriated by Revere for prosecution of land court claims, Kelley asserted.

The Bedford police department sternly indicated today it believes there is such a thing as carrying that spirit too far.

A bus-load of Burlington boys and girls who go to Concord high school because there is no high school in their home town, gathered their pens and books from their desks today and set out for home.

As they passed through Bedford the remembrance that this was the last day of school was just too much, and in a spirit of good clean fun they began to tear up their notes and toss them out the windows.

Special Officer Henry Packery, on duty in Bedford square, saw the bus approaching, trailing a cloud of crumpled note paper.

So Officer Packery stopped the bus, made the boys and girls get out and go back over their route, and pick up the paper—every last piece.

Note to Judge Halts Wife's Divorce Suit

Halting her testimony almost as soon as it began, Judge John V. Mahoney in probate court read a letter questioning the legality of a divorce bill filed by Mrs. Agnes D. Gallagher, who gave her address as Boston.

Charging desertion against Earle Gallagher, Brooklyn, N. Y., the wife has testified they were married in Connecticut in June, 1930, had a child, Daniel, in November, 1931, and that Gallagher had deserted her in Brooklyn on New Year's Day, 1932.

JUDGE HALTS CASE

"Just one minute please," Judge Mahoney said at this point.

He then read a letter from Attorney Joseph E. Stearns of Park row, New York, in which Stearns said Gallagher and his wife were both residents of New York and never had legal residence in Massachusetts.

Last September, in Brooklyn domestic relations court, according to the lawyer, she had given her residence as Brooklyn when seeking support for herself and child.

"Although Mrs. Gallagher," the letter said, "deserted Mr. Gallagher some time ago and took with her their infant son, Mr. Gallagher is willing to have her return to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he will provide a suitable home for her and her infant child and support them both."

Judge Mahoney then said he would "investigate the case thoroughly" before any further proceedings.

FIVE GET DIVORCES

Five other wives were successful in obtaining divorces, however, with the husky woman friend of one testifying that on one occasion the husband in the case was so drunk that the hefty lady had to carry him upstairs to the flat in which the couple lived over the witness' Revere bridal shop.

The wife who won this divorce is Mary Zubracka, Cross street, North End, who charged Stanley Zubracka, now also of the North End, with cruel and abusive treatment.

"He was drunk almost every night," she said, "and when he was drinking he wanted to beat me. He couldn't stand me around."

Tall, brunette and pretty Eleanor May Roan, Grant street, was allowed to resume her maiden name of Skeffington along with her divorce from Edward F. Roan, East Boston, whom she charged with cruel and abusive treatment.

She, too, had a story about being abused while her husband was drinking.

ELOPERS ARE PARTED

The marriage of Katherine Marie Kaplan, Elmwood street, Roxbury, and Morris KKaplan, Roxbury, lasted only three weeks, she said, after their elopement to Derry, N. H., in October, 1937.

Early in the next month she asked him for money, and he slapped her face and walked out forever, she testified.

Desertion was charged by Bessie Black Knight, Riverside drive, New York, against Stuart W. Knight, Newbury street, Back Bay.

They were married in 1910, but he left her in January, 1934, when he became interested in another woman, the wife testified.

Pays $10 for 11-Cent Theft

A charge of stealing 11 cents from a Brighton newsstand cost Emil Kader, 53, of Melvin avenue, Brighton, manager of a Boston manufacturing firm, $10 in Brighton court today.

Kader, who testified he earned $50 a week, was characterized by Judge Thomas H. Connelly as being apparently "one of those people with an uncontrollable impulse to grab loose money lying in front of them."

Judge Connelly first found him guilty and fined him $10, but after an appeal by counsel, Kader was ordered to pay $10 in costs and his case filed.

Norman Morris of Tabor place, Brookline, and George Dunanue of Melton street, Brighton, who run a newsstand at Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, testified that money was often missing. Marking some coins, they testified they stood across the street and saw Kader take a paper without making any payment.

Truck Kills Boy 'Hooking a Ride'

An unidentified boy, red-haired, freckle-faced and about 10 or 12 years old, was instantly killed today near South Station when he fell under the wheels of a truck on which he was trying to "hook" a ride.

Witnesses said the boy lost his footing as he jumped for the running board of the moving vehicle.

The accident occurred in Dorchester avenue, just after 1 p. m.

At Southern mortuary, where the body was taken, the victim was described as wearing a blue and orange jersey, blue trousers, under which were blue swimming trunks, and a pair of sneakers.

DEATH LEAP of 200 feet from Pittsburgh bridge was made by Mrs. C. Edgerton Warburton, ex-show girl wife of John Wanamaker's grandson. Her divorce suit was pending.

PASS WRONG BILL

Hasten to Repeal Labor Tax

State representatives learned to their surprise today that they passed a bill to remove penalties on negligent employers instead of repealing the workers' contribution to the unemployment compensation fund.

Legislative leaders immediately took steps to correct the error before the July 1 expiration of the one-year moratorium declared by the 1938 Legislature on the workers' tax.

J. Edwin Doyle, director of the unemployment compensation division, caught the mistake and notified the House committee on bills in the third reading, which announced a new bill would be drafted.

Under the bill given initial approval penalties on employers who failed to make their returns promptly would be lifted.

The mistake came through the wording in the bill calling for repeal of "Section 5" instead of Section 4 in the law which deals with the workers' tax.

More than 1,000,000 workers would have been affected by the error.

The "repeal bill" was substituted by the House Wednesday for one recommended by the labor and industries committee, under which workers would be taxed if the fund fell below a certain amount.

Organized labor sponsored eliminating employe contributions and hailed Wednesday's vote as a "victory for the wage earner."

Heroism of Squalus Divers Wins Praise

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 23 (INS)—High commendation for two Navy divers who risked their lives to determine if rescue was possible for 26 men who died trapped in the after compartments of the submarine Squalus, was given today by Rear Admiral Cyrus W. Cole before a naval board of inquiry.

Cole testified prior to questioning of divers on efficiency of modern rescue methods.

Citing Divers William Badders and John Mikalowsky, Rear Admiral Cole told how they made a fifth trip in the rescue diving bell after four previous trips had brought up 33 survivors. They attached the bell to an aft hatch and opened it.

RISKED OWN LIVES

"They went down with full knowledge that if they were incapacitated in any way or were knocked out for a moment, there would be no chance in the world of their being rescued because the bell was attached to the hull of the ship, and was the same as being part of the ship," said the yard commandant.

"They were under heavy pressure and great personal danger but performed their duty magnificently."

The divers found the aft compartments flooded. If they had lost consciousnes after unlocking the hatch, water would have flooded the diving bell.

Cole also recommended that the navy build six tugs especially for rescue purposes and base one each at Portsmouth, New London, Conn.; Coco-Solo, Fla.; San Diego, Cal.; Honolulu and Manila.

PRAISE FOR ENTIRE CREW

Present rescue tugs, he said, apparently referring to the salvage tug Falcon, new on the scene where the Squalus sank, had too little room. He recommended general commendation for the entire rescue crew.

The board of inquiry turned its attention to seeking new safety measures and improved rescue techniques.

King Lauds America In London Address

LONDON, June 23 (INS)—King George VI today declared that his visit to America and Canada sharply brought home to him the fact that the "threads of England's own story" are closely "interwoven with those of the development of the newer continent across the sea."

In a speech before a brilliant assemblage in historic Guildhall, the King reviewed the highlights of his 16,000-mile journey to the Dominion and the United States.

Dominant in the King's address was the feeling of Anglo-American amity and his conviction that "humanity" is perhaps stronger in the continent he had just visited than in any other part of the troubled world.

"I was deeply impressed," the King stated, "to find our great political testament, Magna Carta, the object of keen public interest at the World's Fair in New York.

"At every turn in my long journey there was brought constantly home to me how close are interwoven the threads of our own story with those of the development of the newer continent across the sea."

TELLS OF MISSION

King George described his mission abroad as an attempt to demonstrate that the British throne stands as a powerful force for peace among men. He said:

"My trip was designed to show that the headship which I have been called upon to assume exists today as a potent force for peace and good will among mankind."

His Majesty referred frequently to moments of personal happiness he had experienced among his own people in Canada and in the company of Americans. He appeared to have been immensely impressed by his visit to the United States.

The Queen, high members of the court, and other leaders of British life were present as the King spoke.

King George and his Queen arrived at the Guildhall for luncheon after one of the most dramatic displays of loyalty and affection ever accorded British monarchs.

U. S. FLAGS FLUTTER

Together they drove through packed streets where American flags fluttered by the hundreds in a sea of Union Jacks. They made the journey from Buckingham Palace in semi-state.

All the way from Temple Bar, traditional entrance to the city of London, where Lord Mayor Sir Frank Bowater met the King and handed over the civic sword, there were long streams of banners, mingling the Union Jack and the red and white flag of the city.

As soon as the Temple Bar ceremony was over, the Lord Mayor and aldermen and councilors who accompanied him preceded the rulers at a fast trot, receiving them again at the Guildhal.

Start Paying Claims In Housing Seizures

Calls Hub Best Convention City

Bound for his home in Minnesota, newly-elected President Bennett O. Knudson of Kiwanis International today told reporters his organization had found Boston the most satisfactory convention city in America.

He added that the convention that ended here was the most satisfactory on record.

It is estimated that the 6000 delegates and the relatives and friends who came with them left several hundred thousand dollars in the city.

Stage-Shy Beauty To 'Middle-Aisle It'

A victory for Dan Cupid over the fame on the stage or in motion pictures was revealed today when beautiful Helen Sullivan, Boston model, confided intimates she is to wed next month.

The lucky man is Edward Robbett, 32, of Sewall st., Marblehead, manager of a Worcester clothing store. They will be married at the Sacred Heart church, Roslindale, July 8.

A few months ago Miss Sullivan's friends were amazed when she refused a stage offer and a movie test after winning the title of "Miss New England" at a fashion show, topping 25 other models.

She gave no reason for her refusal at that time, continuing her work as hat model at a downtown department store, along with posing for a Boston portrait painter and modeling for a beautician. Yesterday's announcement furnished the reason.

HELEN SULLIVAN

There will be no more modelling after marriage, "even for fun" Miss Sullivan stated, while revealing plans for her wedding.

Her brother, John Sullivan, will be best man, while a sister of the groom, will be Miss Sullivan's bridesmaid.

Endurance Fliers Pass 41 Hour Mark

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 23 (AP)—Two Decatur, Ill., aviators, trying for a new world sustained flight record for light planes, passed the 41-hour mark today. Their second night in the air was without incident.

The fliers, Hunter Moody, 25, and Wilbur Parrish, 36, circled over the municipal airport shortly after daybreak and took on a fresh supply of gasoline by means of a rope contact with a speeding truck. They also successfully received their breakfast by similar contact. They have been aloft since 1:40 p. m. (C. S. T.) Wednesday.

2 Upset Stolen Car, Flee in Dark

With a crash and a roar, the car careened crazily into the fence of the Rugby playground, Wood avenue, Hyde Park, early today, then rolled over on its side. Two men crawled out and dashed into the darkness.

Such was the story told police by a night watchman who witnessed the crash and called them. Investigation showed the car had been stolen a short time before from in front of the home of Mrs. Marian Foster, 30 Nazing street, Roxbury, who claimed it. People are seeking the two men.

284 VOTES SEEN FOR 3D TERM

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, June 23 (INS)—President Roosevelt already has assurance of 284 votes—better than the half way mark—for a third term nomination in the 1940 Democratic convention, New Dealers declared today.

The President, they say, will get New York's 94 votes and Illinois' 58, if he seeks a third term, on top of those already pledged him. His total, if these assurances are carried out, would leave him about 267 short of the nomination, as 551 votes are expected to constitute the necessary two-thirds.

Roosevelt has been assured the Pennsylvania (72), New Jersey (32) and Indiana (28) votes if he desires renomination. Senator Guffey gave the Pennsylvania pledge, Senator Smathers the New Jersey promise, while both former Governor Paul V. McNutt, a potential candidate in his own right, and Senator Sherman Minton assured him of Indiana support.

The New Deal claim of New York's 94 votes is not surprising. It is the President's home state. The state Democratic chairman is National Chairman James A. Farley who has told all his friends he will go down the line for Roosevelt if the President seeks another four years in the White House.

The Illinois claim was indorsed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago in the capital for conferences with Secretary of the Interior Ickes on the Chicago subway project. Kelly said:

"Of course, Illinois is for Roosevelt. From what I learn of the general drift of popular sentiment, the people of Illinois want Roosevelt."

F. R. Third Term Club Seeks to Incorporate

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 23 (AP)—The Roosevelt Third Term Clubs of America, Inc., a Los Angeles organization, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

In the petition for incorporation, the group declared the state of the nation "demands the retention of Franklin Delano Roosevelt for a third term as President."

F. D. Goes for Week At Hyde Park Home

WASHINGTON, June 23 (INS)—Anticipating a vigorous fight over neutrality legislation, President Roosevelt ordered his special train on the tracks late tonight for a week's rest at Hyde Park.

The President planned to return to Washington June 29. He has postponed a transcontinental swing scheduled to start July 2. He will defer his trip to the San Francisco Exposition until after Congress adjourns.

Killer of 4 In Fire Given 4 Life Terms

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—Justice William A. Gold sentenced John J. Coogan, 39, today to four concurrent life terms in state prison for the arson-deaths of an elderly man and three children.

The state charged the unemployed trucker set fire to the home of William B. Clark, Jr., his former employer, last March 11, killing 78-year-old William B. Clark, Sr., his two grandchildren and the children's overnight guest.

Rap Police Defense in Doll Death

(Special to Boston Evening American)

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., June 23—Part of the time when Corporal Benjamin Franklin of the state police [illegible] Joan Stevens, 11-year-old girl, with a load of [illegible] her [illegible] toy cap pistol [illegible] in the "self-defense" [illegible] couldn't be [illegible].

James C. McCready, counsel for [illegible] declared after the [illegible] said to the [illegible] that a [illegible] between the [illegible] and the [illegible] was [illegible] when [illegible] fatal [illegible].

[illegible] McCready, who [illegible] Mrs. Carrie [illegible] and [illegible] Joan, [illegible] her arm in front of her face to shield it from the corporal's bullet.

"Joan was right handed and when that bullet struck her, the toy pistol must have been pointed in a sidewise position back over her left shoulder," McCready declared.

"I believe, further, it is fair to assume she threw up her arm in this fashion after the first shot fired by the corporal.

"Whether that shot struck her or not (Franklin fired ten slugs in all from his automatic) one might reasonably infer that the sound of the gun would terrify a 11-year-old child like Joan.

"Why, then, did Corporal Franklin keep on shooting?

"The law provides that a person must have exhausted all other safety measures, in short, must have his back to the wall, before he can kill and then enter a valid plea of self-defense."

State to Make Own 'Doll Girl' Death Probe

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 23—Attorney General [illegible] Fowler [illegible] today [illegible] the [illegible] of Joan Stevens, [illegible] Doll Girl, Joan [illegible].

The [illegible] was a [illegible] and [illegible] state [illegible] would have been [illegible] after the shooting [illegible] to defer Corporal [illegible] Franklin, charged with the killing of the child, [illegible] by [illegible].

This was revealed [illegible] a [illegible] today with [illegible] Capitol [illegible] shortly after [illegible] Guffey had termed the [illegible] "an atrocious murder" [illegible] demanding a "full and complete investigation."

Patriarca Case Postponed

Absence of a witness today caused postponement of the case in Brighton court against Raymond L. S. Patriarca, storm center of the "parole racket" probe, who is charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to kill.

The Brighton court charges grew out of a $200 holdup of the Oxford Print establishment in Commonwealth avenue, Brighton. At request of police, Judge Thomas Connolly continued the case until next Thursday and Patriarca, who was accompanied in court by his counsel, Herbert F. Callahan, was allowed to go on the same $10,000 bail.

He is also awaiting trial in Middlesex superior court on indictments charging automobile theft and accessory.

WIFE TELLS U. S. RUBENS AMERICAN

MOSCOW, June 23 (INS)—Learning that the fate of Arnold Rubens, American newspaperman who was arrested 18 months ago, may now be investigated officially by the United States embassy rested today on the statement of his American born wife that he, too, is an American citizen.

Mrs. [illegible] Rubens, 31, [illegible] underwent [illegible] was an American citizen. He was born in Latvia and taken to the United States as a child. His father was [illegible] and [illegible] Rubens [illegible].

This statement [illegible] was submitted [illegible] was sent to the embassy to the U. S. State Department where [illegible] will be decided upon.

Mrs. Rubens, who spent 18 months in Lubyanka prison for [illegible] offenders on conviction of entering the U. S. S. R. on a false passport, fears her husband is dead. She confirmed that he had Fascist leanings although she was anti-Fascist.

She was permitted to see him twice, the last time in March, 1938, when in tearful sessions he admitted: "I am a criminal in the Soviet Union." He said he was treated well.

She brought to the outside world its first picture of life inside the prison which has witnessed the shooting of so many high ranking offenders.

SHOOTS 2, ENDS OWN LIFE

CLINTON, Ind., June 23 (INS)—Judith Scriza, 45, Fairview Park matron today shot and killed her wife with a shotgun, wounded a neighbor, Mrs. Alice Veltri, when she attempted to interfere, and then turned the gun on herself and committed suicide.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

HUNT HIT-RUN DRIVER

Search was continued today for a hit-run driver who ran down a retired Worcester cop, Charles Brown, as he was leaving one of the taverns on Oneida street, South End.

Birth Rate in U. S. Increased Last Year

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The American birth rate, contrary to popular belief, is rising, the Census Bureau announced today.

The final compilation for 1938 showed the rate was 17.7 live births for every 1000 population, which was the highest since 1931.

GOVERNOR AGAIN SLASHES BUDGET

ernor said, " can be summarized in a recitation of facts

"These two factors alone for the two-year period account for $26,114,858 which we must expend this year, and $21,372,199 which we must expend in 1940

"With the anticipation of ordinary revenue the lowest in the past five years and with mandatory increases confronting us I find no other course open to me than to request your approval of further reductions in the state's actual operating costs."

Among institutions that would be affected by the governor's vetoes, through elimination of allotments for repairs and renovations, are

The Massachusetts State College, the Bradford-Durfee textile school in Fall River, state hospitals at Danvers, Gardner, Grafton, Medfield, Northampton, Taunton, Westboro, Worcester and Monson the state farm at Bridgewater, Massachusetts reformatory for woman, the industrial school for girls, the Lyman school for boys and the Tewksbury state infirmary

SEES DROP IN REVENUE

In his message the governor predicted a "net" state tax -the deficiency levy on cities and towns to balance the state budget- of $13,500,000 this year, in view of the cut as against last's state tax of $17,500,000

Nearly $20,000,000 will be required during the next two years to pay debts accumulated during previous administrations, the governor said

Reimbursements to cities and towns for welfare expenditures constitute one-fifth of all state expenditures in the biennial budget he added, and this type of disbursement calls for an increase of nearly $10,000,000 in the next two years

Under the constitution, there is still the possibility of further savings in the bill, in case the legislature puts through most or all of the governor's newest program to effect more economy by eliminating and consolidating a number of state agencies.

In a budget reserve the appropriations for all agencies affected by the governor's program are earmarked and whatever part of this may be necessary will be appropriated in a supplementary budget.

APPROVAL EXPECTED

It was generally conceded that the legislature, with a Republican majority in each branch and two-thirds rule in effect, would approve the Saltonstall reductions.

The House and Senate, under the Constitution, cannot now increase any of the items in the appropriation bill, but may cut them. However, this latter course is considered extremely unlikely.

Phi Beta Kappa Holds Rites At Harvard

Scholars gathered in Cambridge today for the annual Phi Beta Kappa literary exercises, one of the final important meetings of Harvard's commencement program

Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal and Pulitzer prize winner in history, was scheduled as principal speaker at the honor society's meeting in Sanders Theater.

Shortly after President James Bryant Conant awarded 2315 degrees to Harvard seniors and graduate students, U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was named as one of the five new overseers of the university.

Elected with Senator Lodge were Robert Woods Bliss of Washington, D. C., retired diplomat; Associate Professor-Emeritus David Cheever of Harvard medical school; former Governor William Tudor Gardiner of Maine, and John L. O'Brian, attorney, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Governor Saltonstall, of the class of 1914, was chief alumni marshal for the commencement exercises held in Seaver Quadrangle. Twelve honorary degrees were granted and President Conant announced the institution had been given a total of $4,128,686 during the past year

• Duplex Mattresses are twice as thick as any ordinary innerspring mattress; partly because two innerspring units are used instead of one; partly because more layers of soft white felt are put in.
• You'll never know what real sleeping comfort means until you've slept on a Duplex—they are scientifically built for more lasting comfort and really restful sleep
• Popular Science Magazine devoted considerable space in describing the unusual merits of the Duplex.
• In our files is an unsolicited letter from Singapore, China, stating that the writer has found nowhere in his world travels a mattress that can equal the "Duplex" in comfort.

Eight in N. E. Win Puck Prizes

Smart readers of the Hearst comic weekly, Puck with your Boston Sunday Advertiser qualified for another $100 in cash prizes in the June 11 Stars and Stripes Club contest.

In addition "surprizes" of $1 each were awarded to Murray Glazer, Prospect avenue, the Bronx, New York City, and Eleanor Hawkins, Hawthorne street, Fairmont W Va.

National puzzle champion of the week was Dorothy V. Reiser, Leader Avenue, Lancaster, Mo.

Winners of the contest which started in the June 18 Sunday Advertiser will be announced in the Boston American next week.

That will be the last announcement for the time being at least because the Bingpot of Bongunga wasn't fooling about that vacation. He sailed in four different boats last Sunday, causing the editors of Penguins a complete muddle, as always.

Naturally with the contest over the contest club will have to take an indefinite recess. So here's hoping you've been among the thousands of prize winners, and that, even if you haven't a prize you've had a good time.

New England winners are:

Mary Lucy Wentworth, Stockbridge Manor, Mass.; Dorothy Bolton, Fall River, Paul Kerwin, Flora street, Brookline; C. V. Goyette, Dexter street, Central Falls, R. I.; Ellsworth Ayotte, Madison street, Greenfield, Leslie A. Darnley, Louis Pang street, Boston, Jerry Morris, Ball street, Holyoke, Mary Gannon, Lake avenue, Manchester, N. H.

La Guardia Proclaims N. Y. Citizenship Day

(Special to Boston Evening American)

NEW YORK, June 23—As Citizenship Day, to be observed with impressive ceremonies at 4 p. m. on the Central Park Mall next Sunday, draws nearer, city-wide interest mounts hourly.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia issued a proclamation setting aside Sunday, June 25, as the day for welcoming into the ranks of citizenship well over a million young men and women about to exercise the right of suffrage. The mayor's proclamation said:

"Whereas, the acquirement of citizenship in the United States carries with it a heritage of freedom and opportunity to American youth unequalled in any other land; and

"Whereas, that heritage of liberty is coupled with an obligation to preserve and perpetuate it, and a definite responsibility upon every young man and woman in our country who comes of age to treat that citizenship as a sacred and inviolate trust, and

"Whereas, the protection and perpetuation of our form of government, which we call democracy, and life in America, providing more happiness for more people than any other system of rule yet conceived or attempted elsewhere in the world, and still offering hope of the blessings of freedom to less fortunate peoples in other lands, depends today and tomorrow upon the youth of the United States who are becoming and will become for the first time, American citizens

"Therefore, I do hereby approve of a plan to invest with fitting and dignified ceremonies the coming of age and the attainment of citizenship by the youth of our city, and proclaim Sunday, June 25, 1939, as young citizenship day in the City of New York, and urge the observance of this day by all those who treasure the priceless privilege of citizenship in the United States."

While her legal—and psychological—right to cry to her heart's content was being stoutly defended today by her mother and by her family doctor, Concetta-and Carol Wardzala of Lake street, West Peabody, continued to make the most of her privileged status.

THE AVERAGE WAGE EARNER, the workingman, has a greater personal income tax problem in America than either the well-to-do or the unemployed.

For it is the average wage earner who is paying ALL TAXES in the last analysis.

Despite the New Deal's boasted slogan of "the New Deal pays," that New Administration's tax policy is a "soak the rich" policy.

Heavy taxes on the present high tax levels in the so-called "upper income brackets" affect only those earning over $10,000 a year income after taxes. YOUR pocketbook and threaten the stability of YOUR job.

A man earning $10,000 a year, for instance, will pay approximately [illegible] in Federal and State income taxes alone. That is about $200 a week.

He must make enough sales that is human nature to make up for that $200 a week which he looks on as money taken from him without any tangible return.

When business is sparing he cuts down PRODUCTION and consequently SALES.

Either way a decrease in production and sales means the end of your job.

ATTRACTIVE TAX TARGET OF NEW DEAL
She and Other Workers Are Principal Sufferers

For the less money there is spent and the more money there is paid out in taxes the nearer you, the worker—white collar or open shop—are to the LOWEST LEVEL OF WAGES, OR NO WAGES AT ALL.

If you work in the office or the producing department of a large corporation YOU pay the tax on your employers' undistributed profits and capital gains. He has to take it out of somebody's wages.

Similarly YOU pay the "security" levy on the payrolls.

YOU pay also, the high surtaxes on the income tax of every one of the members of the board of directors of the corporation for whom you work.

You pay in what are called "ECONOMIES," a "policy of RETRENCHMENT" and other phrases which mean, flatly, that YOU ARE THE ULTIMATE GOAT OF THE "SOAK-THE-RICH" TAX POLICY.

That is why [illegible] persons out of work today.

That is why [illegible] competent workers taking wage cuts.

That is why [illegible] of workers being "let out."

Has anybody seriously asked WHY?

THE ANSWER lies in a word that millions of WORKERS think THEY are not concerned with because THEY do not pay directly TAXES—taxes on the industries or individuals which the workers and wage earners depend upon for employment.

For it is essentially true what Franklin Delano Roosevelt told YOU, THE AMERICAN WORKER, in 1932:

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors."

Secondary [illegible] that is paid in taxes by your landlord or your employer is, literally, according to the President, SWEATED OUT OF YOU.

It is therefore to your PERSONAL INTEREST—you the worker—to see to it now that Congress gives the country a sane tax system, and not a NATIONAL SWEATING APPARATUS.

BOSTON'S BIG TROUBLE is a disease known as "lack of vision," says John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor, who contrasts the challenging present with the prosperous past.

During the first century of the city's existence, he tells us, 77 wharves were built, maritime trade established with all the world's principal ports and as many as 1267 laden vessels despatched for foreign ports in three year periods.

For today, exemplary of current stagnation, stands the abandoned Boston Navy Yard structure, rusting in idleness and seriously harming the whole district.

Mr. Fitzgerald therefore concludes that only by going back to the courageous, pioneering and fighting spirit of its founders can Boston hope to continue as a principal commercial center.

A PERSIAN princess, hard to please . . . accustomed to luxury ease . . . the cat will be your friend and pet . . . if gently you will stroke her fur.

Yet—stroked with her cushioned paws . . . you'll find the sharp and cruel claws . . . and then at times, her eyes flash fire . . . two glowing orbs of vengeance dire . . . Her savage instincts once inflamed . . . the jungle in her can't be tamed.

And glowing, too, like living coals . . . are some unconquered human souls.

DAVEY O'BRIEN WITH HEISMAN TROPHY
"Let Us Not Be Too Hasty in Condemning"

THIS IS WHY, no doubt, professional football magnates no longer find it necessary to conduct intensive campaigns for material. There, today, is an embarrassment of human riches, and let us not be too hasty in condemning the youthful young giants in prostrating themselves before the portals of the mercenary division of football. For here, in these parlous times, is a letup of value beyond estimate for those whose ability insures the opening of doors into the commercial arena.

Davey O'Brien, for instance, whose feats as a forward passer and runner on the eleven of Texas Christian University brought him resounding fame. Over a span of four or five years, the usual life period of a professional footballer, he will spend three and a half months of each year playing football for a salary of five thousand dollars, perhaps more, per annum, leaving eight months for post graduate study in whatever field he chooses.

Time thus will be given him to obtain at least a foothold in his chosen profession or calling and when at length he hangs up his cleated shoes he should have a substantial bank account and solid mental assets for the real game of life.

Political Parade -:- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 23—So cynical has Washington become during the past six or seven years that it expresses no astonishment nor [illegible] when one hears the brutally frank remark around the Capitol:

"If the New Deal can force the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term, the New Deal will know how to buy his election."

The New Deal may not be able to "buy" another election with relief money and the wealth poured out in various sorts of benefits to large groups of people.

This writer is inclined to think that the tide actually has turned against the New Deal; that instead of subsiding since the 1936 congressional elections it has been rising, and that it is virtually a political truism that when a tide such as this starts running it becomes remorseless and uncontrollable.

RELIEF SCANDALS of 1938, the brazen defense of politics in relief on the floor of the Senate at the time and the current failure of the House leadership to bring the Hatch Bill to a vote in the form in which it was unanimously passed by the Senate—all these have involved the whole effort to start a "draft Roosevelt" in an unwholesome atmosphere.

SENATOR CLARK
Fate Proves Ironical

By the irony of fate the man who led the fight in the Philadelphia convention of 1936 for the abrogation of the century-old two thirds rule for the making of Democratic Presidential nominations, today is foremost among Democratic leaders who are planning to fight the third term to the bitter end.

This, of course, is Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri, devoted son of the late Speaker Champ Clark, deprived of the Presidency as it turned out in the convention of 1912 when William J. Bryan by a vote of the two-thirds rule prevented his nomination.

So strongly does Senator Clark feel about today's burning issue, that Senate colleagues quote him as saying that he would not vote for a third term for his own father.

Yet it is precisely because he succeeded in repealing the two-thirds rule at the Democratic national convention of 1936, that Senator Clark today is confronted by the necessity of opposing a third term for President Roosevelt.

IT IS CERTAIN that Mr. Roosevelt could not be nominated for a third time—draft or otherwise—if the old two thirds rule still prevailed. One more than one-third of the convention would be sufficient to block the nomination. That many can be counted already—in advance.

This is why it is imperative for the Democratic House, as a matter of good government and political decency, to pass the Hatch bill.

Without the Hatch bill, the jobholders would have a holiday in the next Democratic national convention, under the unit rule.

GRACIE ALLEN TALKS TO EINSTEIN

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, June 27: Gracie Allen, about to be introduced to Professor Albert Einstein, was warned by her husband that Einstein is unfamiliar with most things of Broadway days and that Gracie therefore should be careful about her conversation with the learned savant. After the meeting George Burns too: Gracie beside and asked whether she had heeded his warning. "Of course I did," Gracie assured. "I asked Einstein only one question: 'Is mathematics on the level?'"

SETTLEMENT: When Bert Wheeler and Sally Blaine agreed to separate they discussed the property settlement and Wheeler asked his wife how much she wanted. Sally stated a sum and Bert surprisingly acquiesced . . . "Anything more?" he asked . . . His startled wife quickly replied: "And all the furniture". . . "Okay," Wheeler agreed, "anything more?" "Er . . . these properties," Sally enumerated. "O'kay. Anything more?" her husband agreed. Sally was overwhelmed. "Just one thing more," she finally said. "I want the pass to the Englewood racetrack!"

SORROW: Mrs. Forbes Robertson, who is Shaw's closest friend now, has cornered the most famous relics in Europe. It was at her home that Vincent Sheean met his father-in-law, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson and George Bernard Shaw. Sheean seated himself between them, two men, and heard them discuss Ellen Terry . . . "Isn't it too bad," said Sheean, "that she had such tough luck with men?" . . . Not for some time later did he remember that both Shaw and Forbes-Robertson had been in love with Miss Terry . . . "I wouldn't say that," was Shaw's only statement. "I would say that men were the ones who had tough luck with Miss Terry."

DEFEAT: The producer of a musical comedy saw George White after the show and told him: "It's a very strange thing: there was a lot of applause during the show, but few people laughed. How do you explain a thing like that?" . . . "It's simple," the show wise White replied. "It's easy to have your friends applaud for you—but you can't make 'em laugh."

Almost 70 per cent of the beverage bill is for liquor and 20 per cent for champagne and wines. Although repeal brought a great income to hotels it caused a heavy loss in room service and the revenue of mineral waters . . . In prohibition guests brought their own liquor, called for some set ups and asked for a menu.

ACTION APLENTY AT LOEW'S--SHIRLEY'S MET STAR AGAIN

Robin Hood Role For Brian Aherne

By PEGGY DOYLE

An Irish Robin Hood whose Sherwood Forest was the far-flung Australian bush country of the early 19th century is handsome Brian Aherne's latest screen character, and one he seems happily met than his splendid Maximilian of "Juarez."

As "Captain Fury," now unreeling on Loew's State and Orpheum screens, Aherne is called upon to be one of those famous bad-men who is forever miraculously escaping certain capture and rubbing-out. Condemned to exile in Australia for his political activities in Ireland Michael Fury arrives in New South Wales, used at the time as a British penal colony.

The convicts are largely poor farmers and sheep herders, who are having a difficult time trying to wrest a meager livelihood from the barren bush soil. To add to their consternation, greedy land barons with dreams of empire-building are making ruthless land grabs using convict labor and competing with them in the export markets.

* * *

In the same spirit of benevolent outlawry that inspired Robin Hood Captain Michael Fury becomes the colonists' champion. While there is no serious attempt at historic exactitude, Captain Fury and his "merrie men" contrive to put on some of the screen's most exciting skirmishes and chases. A particularly striking sequence is the march of the peaceable settlers armed with pitchforks to rescue their savior.

Intrepid? It's incredible how Intrepid the captain is and somehow Aherne looks a bit too effete to wield and swing broadswords. As Nora Lagan, the lass he loves and marries, Victoria Hopper is a bit too much of a bandbox beauty. If she ever was one of a pioneer woman, she's more and more as the picture progresses. George Zucco, Paul Lukas, Dudley Digges, Heather Angel and Ralph Forbes are in the picture.

In the [illegible] drama of the picture, Aherne is forced away from the girl he loves to rescue a fellow prisoner who has been framed into a life sentence for the murder of the governor of the colony.

Rita Johnson, who is adorable and acts like a girl, plays the prisoner who has been framed.

COPLEY THEATRE...NOW
E. TRIAL of DR. BECK

MARGARET MULLEN, one of Boston's own stage stars, will play opposite Dennis King in "Olympia" at Marblehead on July 3.

Bostonian In Play Lead

When the North Shore Players present Molnar's "Olympia" at Marblehead on July 3, one of the most important parts, that of Olympia, will be played by Bostonian Margaret Mullen. In this role she will appear opposite Dennis King cast as Kovacs.

Miss Mullen prepared for the theater at E. E. Clive's dramatic school, later making her stage debut in his production of "The Ghost Train" at the Copley. She was the niece of John O'Callaghan, former street commissioner of Boston and of Maurice Garney of the Lyon-Shaw Machinery Company. Overlooked by Henry Smith, a member of the Boston Copley Players. She spent [illegible] life in Arlington.

Robson Steals Film Honors

By HARRIS MORGAN

You'll get the surprise of your life when you see Hollywood's grande dame, May Robson, in Warners' prize-ring comedy, "The Kid From Kokomo," now showing at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters.

For this beloved veteran actress of dignified dowager roles professionally forsakes respectability in her latest picture to portray a shop-lifting Sadie character, an antique lady lush with straggly gray hair and a lewd wink.

Unaccustomed as she is to such screen goings-on, it is astounding how convincing she plays this elderly hoyden role. She is absolutely a honey in it and practically runs away with "The Kid From Kokomo."

She not only runs away with the picture, she all but skips with the Kid's hardly fought-for purse.

Miss Robson and Pat O'Brien, who has discarded his clerical garb for the loud habiliments of a fight manager, are guilty of excellent teamwork in this picture which stars Wayne Morris ostensibly.

O'Brien plays what is known as a gyp off the old block, assisted by his ex-bubble dancer girlfriend, Joan Blondell. Wayne Morris is their current victim. He's a two-fisted country bumpkin, with a one-track mind, his one purpose to find the mother who deserted him when he was a baby.

No sooner said than accomplished with "Gyp" O'Brien, who, chancing upon shop-lifting Sadie in police court, a fellow-plaintiff, dresses her up a la Whistler's mother and introduces her to the Kid as his mother.

Temple Charm Pleases Fans

At the Metropolitan Theater this week, guess what: cowboys and Indians! And with Shirley Temple!

Ladies and gentlemen, if you like Shirley—and there are apparently few who don't—this is your dish.

The story is a little beside the point.

We are an old movie goer (the editorial we accounts for that confusion) and we have a faint recollection of having seen it somewhere before. This time it's done in sepia brown.

It's a story of the Canadian Pacific railroad forging its way through the northwest Rockies, with Indians, good and bad, to block its progress. In the movies, even good Indians are not to be too easily trusted.

How-some-ever, Shirley is discovered hiding in a rain barrel by hero Randolph Scott after an Indian raid, and is adopted by a post of Canadian Mounted police. Here, to all intents and purposes the mounties are the cowboys.

There is no doubt about it, if it weren't for Miss Temple, who's a better mime than much Hollywood adult talent, "Shannah of the Mounties" would languish. Shirley, smoking a pipe of peace and teaching six-foot-four Randolph Scott to waltz are priceless bits of humor.

For the rest, it's a simple tale of how Shirley becomes a blood brother of a tribe of Indians who really love the "Red-Coat Chief," but who are misled by a half breed member to raid the railroad camps.

Hero Scott is captured in the raid, and only the talents of the little leading lady save him from death at the stake.

Victor Jory, apparently still in the movie dog-house, is the villainous Indian; and Margaret Lockwood, the charming elf of "The Lady Vanishes," and who really deserves much more in her American debut, plays opposite Mr. Scott.

Second feature on the bill is "Charlie Chan in Reno," in which Sidney Toler continues with admirable fortitude the task inaugurated by Warner Oland.

Mr. Toler is a killer-diller as murder strikes in America's stronghold of freedom amid a wealth of lovely ladies.

If women like Phyllis Brooks and Pauline Moore can be in Reno, for any purpose whatsoever we said to ourselves, what can this country be coming to?

Verdict: On the whole, yes, if you like Shirley.—J. C.

Sleek, slick rayon jersey is in the news as never before — because it's so exciting-looking for daytime, playtime or evening.

You can just point to it in show w.k.e.r authentic black and say, "There! That's rayon jersey at its most dramatic." Because honors are equally divided between these two exercises and all the delicious colorful pastels.

It is slim-making and sophisticated in dress-making detail, as well. It's smooth to an elegantly draped inch. And just absolutely unsurpassed as a dressy afternoon, item to be worn with a tailored. This weave like it best with starred shoulder treatment.

SO FAR this June the bells of Boston steeples departing for other climes [illegible] Jones has been very short. [illegible] been [illegible] in [illegible] with [illegible] or graduate [illegible] in the Back Bay so they can settle down here in the midst of families and friends.

Today's outstanding wedding unites two of our most aristocratic old families . . . the Peabodys and Brewsters . . . with the marriage of Katharine Peabody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rodman Peabody of Milton, to Dr. Henry Hodge Brewster, son of the George W. W. Brewsters of Beacon street . . .

The ceremony is taking place in the First Parish Church of Milton, with the Rev. Vivian Pomeroy and Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving officiating . . . The bride's three sisters, Gertrude, Anne and Cora, her only attendants, are wearing colorful yellow and blue chiffon gowns to form a lovely contrast to the bride's traditional white . . . Dr. William Brewster of New York is the best man and the usher corps includes several of the bridegroom's associates in the medical profession . . .

Katharine was educated in Paris and Boston before making her debut here in the 1932-33 season, and she belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club . . . Dr. Brewster graduated from Harvard in 1935 and three years later received his degree from the Harvard Medical School . . .

MR. AND MRS. GORDON S. MYERS (Nancy Swift) smiling happily as they left the First Parish Church, Chestnut Hill, following their marriage yesterday afternoon. The couple will live in Brookline while the bridegroom completes his course at Harvard Medical School.

Fashionables at Myers-Swift Bridal

OUT AT the beautiful little First Parish Church in Chestnut Hill, Nancy Swift became the bride of Gordon S. Myers yesterday afternoon . . . and though the rites were very simple and informal, the wedding was one of the socially significant events of the month of brides . . .

Most wide-eyed of the spectators were the three little daughters of the F. Gorham Brigham's gardener, who interrupted their afternoon's play to walk over to the church to see the spectacle . . . They stood in open-mouthed admiration when the bride finally arrived, for she looked just like Cinderella in a fairy-like cloud of satin and Russian lace with a tiara of tiny white rosebuds in her dark hair . . . Though the little spectators had no invitations they were able to watch the whole ceremony, for the weather was so beautiful that the church doors were wide open and there was no awning to mar their view . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Brigham and their daughter, Harriet, were among the guests . . . With her pleated gown of pale blue silk, Mrs. Brigham wore a dubonnet hat with a matching veil, and Mrs. Livingston Davis wore a pleated tan and white printed silk dress with a natural straw picture hat . . .

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. William K. Myers of Merion, Pa., wore a powder blue lace gown with inserts of matching tulle in the skirt, a blue horsehair picture hat and a corsage of [illegible] roses . . . Mrs. John [illegible], Jr., the bride's mother, was gowned in [illegible] with [illegible] outlining the bottom of her navy hat, and the [illegible] Swift, Mrs. John B. Sr., was dressed in black [illegible] accented with a pearl [illegible] . . .

Slade-Clark Ceremony

Chaloner Berry Slade, who received his degree from Harvard University yesterday, is marrying up the aisle of the Church of Our Saviour in Brookline this afternoon, with a bride on his arm. She is Miss Charlotte Clark, daughter of Mr. Seth Clark of Brookline.

Following the ceremony there is to be a reception at the Algonquin Club.

The bride is wearing a street dress of turquoise and white printed silk with a white straw picture hat and she is carrying butterfly roses. Mrs. Louis H. Hough of Brookline, the only attendant, is wearing rose and white checked print with a white hat and a corsage of gardenias.

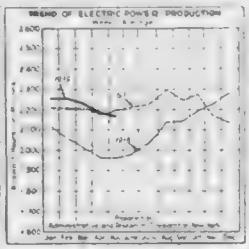
Boston Exchange Plans 'Education'

An elaborate educational program has been prepared by the Boston Stock Exchange . . . for securities salesmen and traders . . . who must take the New York Stock Exchange examination on July 10 . . .

MEETINGS . . . Start next Monday and continue daily through Friday . . . They will be held in the small room on the second floor of the Exchange building at 3:15 p.m. sharp . . . All members of the Boston and New York exchanges, their associates and interested employees are invited to attend . . . Pre-announcement interest in the program was great and publication of the interesting nature and meeting schedule is sure to stimulate further interest . . . For the whole undertaking is a progressive step . . . Which will benefit employees as it increases the esteem of the public for a profession whose intricacies and highly specialized features have been too long unappreciated . . .

A FEW . . . Of the highlights of the six-week educational course will be provided by . . . A. C. Koenig and Dana O. Sawyer both of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston who will discuss Regulation T and its application to margin accounts and cash transactions . . . Joseph Hassett of Hornblower & Weeks will lecture on odd-lot trading principles and price determination . . . Norman B. Guild, office manager of Tucker, Anthony & Co., will speak on the conduct and opening of accounts . . . Others who will address the meetings on such varied subjects as legal pitfalls and security analysis are Elton B. Smith, Frank M. Sinclair, Eugene G. Bailey, David Dewey, John W. Dobbs, William L. Grace and Lothrop Washington . . .

KEY . . . Individual industrial activity indexes of importance is the record of electric power production . . . The figures are published weekly for the country as a whole . . . But the fluctuations at times are so wide as to either rob the figure of significance or to inflate the meaning of gains and losses . . . To overcome this defect statisticians and analysts use a weekly average figure . . . A chart of which is produced with this column . . . In such a graph the rough undependable changes are thoroughly eliminated . . . And in their place we obtain a smooth line . . . which does somewhat but accurately portrays the trend of power production . . . Now is the low of 1938 was truly graphically captured . . . Also the high of 1937 . . . At present a bottoming out is suggested but as yet unproven . . .



NEW OFFICERS . . . For Boston's famed Provident Institution for Savings have been elected . . . Charles Francis Adams assumes the presidency . . . Succeeding the late George Peabody Gardner . . . Ralph Lowell has been made vice-president . . . While two new members of the board of trustees have been named . . . They are Edward H. Osgood . . . And Dwight Foster . . . Thus is the tradition of association carried out . . . As the bank so intimately identified with local financial affairs has always noted for an executive personnel drawn from families long prominent in Boston banking circles . . .

Cost of Reforms 'Liberals' Overlook

Dr. John B. Andrews, secretary for the American Association for Labor Legislation, at the Buffalo convention urged progressives to defend "social legislation against the organizing forces of reaction."

Dr. Andrews said:

"At no time during the past 20 years has there been greater need for alertness on the part of those who promote and defend progressive social legislation. At state capitols this year, we have witnessed a partial rout of liberal forces and at Washington efforts to emasculate recently adopted labor laws have been made."

Sensible liberals fail to remember that such developments must be interpreted in terms of cost, and corresponding adjustments must be made somewhere to keep the national economy in balance . . .

The real enemies of these "reforms" are not organized reactionary interests but rather inconsistencies in the "reforms" themselves . . .

If American manufacturers are to be subjected to wage and hour restrictions, payroll taxes for social security a Wagner Act, and similar measures, then it should logically follow that such American manufacturers be protected at the frontier by adequate tariffs . . .

With artificial controls of social legislation, which pegged industrial costs at a high level above the international price level, this administration at Washington permitted reduction of hundreds of tariff rates through so-called reciprocal pacts . . .

Our social workers ought to recognize that some issues with lifting American standards there must be tariff protection from the competition of nations with lower living standards . . .

If industrial costs and prices are to be pegged at a high level above the international price level through social legislation, then it will be necessary to give counter vailing benefits to foreign labor in order to keep the prices of advanced relative

MARKET TREND IS NARROW

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The stock market shuffled over a mighty small route today.

Dealings were inconsequential either way, however, and small fractions, pro and cons ruled around mid-day.

Among the few issues managing to post minor gains were U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, Sperry, Spicer Mfg., Auburn Radiator, Great Northern, Phelps Dodge, Philip Morris and Sears Roebuck.

Backward were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Standard Oil of N. J., American Can, Anaconda and Loft.

The softness of the market to report yesterday to the administration's large lending program was disappointing to some in Wall Street. Besides big buyers also, brokers thought, was the still cloudy Far Eastern British-Japanese picture. Some sustenance again was derived from the better business outlook but apparently not enough to spur the stock list.

Rails and commodities were mixed. European markets were quiet and trendless.

Chief cause for retail spending, as summarized this week by Dun & Bradstreet, provided a bright spot in the speculative firmament.

The review estimated consumer demand up 8 to 12 per cent from the corresponding week last year, with all major geographical divisions participating to some degree in the expansion. The South and Middle West were said to have made the best showing, with the Northwest and Pacific Coast a trifle behind the average.

MOXIE'S NAME RIGHTS UPHELD

NEW YORK, June 23—Through preliminary injunction yesterday granted by the United States district court for the southern district of New York the Noxie Kola Company of New York, Inc., and the Noxie Kola Company, Inc., were enjoined from infringement of the registered trade mark Moxie, the name Noxie Kola being adjudged as an infringement of and unfair competition with the trade mark Moxie for many years one of the best known for soft drinks in the United States.

By the court's order the defendants were restrained from distributing, offering for sale, selling or advertising any carbonated beverage or syrup for making the same, not made by the Moxie Company bearing a trade mark or name consisting of or containing the word Noxie or any other word so closely similar in sound and appearance to Moxie as to be likely to deceive the trade or the public.

The court further restrained the defendants from carrying on the business of manufacture, sale, distribution or advertising of any carbonated beverage or the syrup for making the same, under the name or style of Noxie Kola Company or any other name consisting of or containing the word Noxie or other word so similar to Moxie as to be likely to lead to uncertainty and confusion.

Bar Gold Unchanged

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—Bar gold 148s 5d, unchanged. (Equivalent $34.70).

Bar silver 19 7/16d, up 3/16 from previous 19 3/16d.

INSURANCE CHIEFS FOR STATES' RIGHTS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23 (AP)—Defenders of states' rights arose at the annual convention of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners to oppose any Federal movement into the insurance field.

Louis H. Pink of Albany, New York superintendent of insurance, questioned "the necessity of extension of federal control over industry."

He said he believed "the majority of the people of this country undoubtedly believe the federal government should do only those things which it can carry on better than the states, or which the states cannot adequately do for themselves."

Pink, at a luncheon address, declared insurance is a partner of Democracy—that it is no accident nearly three-fourths of the world's life insurance is in the United States and Canada.

It emphasizes individuality and appeals to free peoples, he asserted.

"The insurance industry was somewhat fearful of social security, unemployment insurance and old age benefits," Pink observed, "but they too, instead of drying up the wells of private insurance, have made them flow more abundantly.

"People securing some protection and security from the government are anxious to get a larger measure on their own initiative."

John C. Blackall of Hartford Connecticut's commissioner, was prominently mentioned for president, with no opposition so far in sight for the election tomorrow. Biloxi, Mississippi was said to be in the lead for the choice as next years convention city.

CONSIDER SALE TO N. E. POWER CO.

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., June 23 (AP)—Both the Vermont and New Hampshire Public Service Commissions considered today petitions for permission to sell the Bellows Falls Hydro-Electric Corp., to the New England Power Company, a wholesale organization owned by the New England Power Association.

Officials of the corporation testified at a joint meeting of the two commissions that the proposed sale would result in material savings and simplification of corporate structure and said the transaction would not affect present service in Vermont.

Retail Trade Makes Gain Over 1938

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Despite unfavorable weather in some centers, which gave retail trade a slow start, the past week's volume averaged 8 to 12 per cent over the like period of last year, the Dun & Bradstreet weekly review reported today.

"All major geographical divisions," said the survey, "reported some advance, but differences in the degree of improvement were marked, with the south and middle west making the best showing, and the northwest and Pacific coast still lagging behind the average.

"In wholesale markets, buyers placed principal emphasis on merchandise for Fourth-of-July and after school promotions. Forward buying of fall items continued to gain in volume, with house business and road orders reported equally satisfactory.

"In several lines, commitments were arriving earlier than usual, and in almost all at least some increase in volume over a year ago was being reported."

UPHOLDS U. S. OLD AGE PLAN

ESTES PARK, Col., June 23 (AP)—Contributory old age insurance, already established by federal law, must be the ultimate solution to America's old age pension problem, a member of the Social Security board and a pioneer in the private pension field agreed today.

"Flat pensions have little relation to social security," George E. Bigge, one of the three persons who administer the government's Social Security program, said in a prepared address before the citizens' conference on government management.

He interrupted her.

"Mother! There's something I haven't told you. I've got to [illegible] I suppose."

Now she was tasting triumph in [illegible] a secret withheld from the young wife!

Yes, I'll tell you. Chris and I were going to be married. She made a condition, of course. It's that; she is to go with me.

"And you haven't told [illegible] a thing like that?"

"I couldn't somehow just then. She made that part of the conditions. Too many [illegible] famous Miss Elaine [illegible] publicity there'd be, she said."

"How old is she?"

"Old? Oh, I don't [illegible] I expect."

WINDSOR, 45, FETED AT EIFFEL TOWER, 50

The Duke was 45. The famous [illegible] which [illegible] f[illegible] at Charles De Mass on the 50th [illegible] of the Seine was 50.

The main event of the day scheduled for both was a party on the first platform of the tower with the Duke and the American heir[illegible] on guests of honor.

A gala fete in the style of 1889 was arranged to recall the days when the Duke's grandfather Edward VII was Prince of Wales, and [illegible] the tower.

Greetings on the 50th anniversary of the Eiffel Tower got under way last night with the election of a Lorraine peasant, 6 feet 3 inches tall, as "Mademoiselle Tour Eiffel."

Aside from the tower party, the duke's chief source of birthday [illegible]

IDYLLIC RED TOP: TRAINING PARADISE

AS A TRAINING SCENE HARVARD'S crew camp at Red Top is like nothing in any other field of sport.

There are no flop-eared sparring partners lounging around the premises to eye visitors with hard, red eyes. There are no publicity props, no axe and log with which to pose the lads in a "typical training shot" for the Sunday sport page. No preventative seals are on the water bottles. And no black flagons of stimulant to jolly the press.

AUSTEN LAKE

There is only an air of scholarly calm, fresh white paint and close-cropped lawns where Harvard's young gentlemen prowl in duck slacks, tinkle banjo strings, take examinations in the cloistered quiet of the dining hall, eat dietetic foods, or play croquet on the turf which runs down to meet the waters of the Thames.

They are sunburned kids with scrub boards stomachs who rise with the lark, go tugging twice a day at their hoe-handles in matchwood shells, and live lives of genial rigor for the two weeks before paddling their bodkin boats to meet Yale at the starting line.

So this evening, for slightly more than 19 minutes, they will tug out their heart strings, spring their joints and pop their eye-balls over the river course. Twenty minutes, perhaps, during which the carnival fleet that lines the banks for sport's highest social event, see only a glimpse of the race. Then four months of the most arduous labor known to sport is over for the year.

Shortlidge, stroke Bill Rowe, Bob Stevens, Sherman Gray, Walker Kernan, Bob Fowler, Capt. Dudley Talbot, John Richards, Bruce Pirnie. Crimson combination, freshman and jayvee crews all won their races.

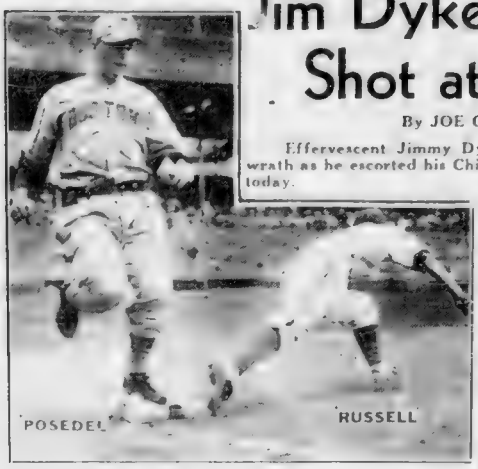
Jim Dykes Takes Shot at Umpiring

By JOE CASHMAN

Effervescent Jimmy Dykes was bubbling over with wrath as he escorted his Chicago White Sox into Boston today.



BEES' SAILOR BILL POSEDEL safe as Herman of Cubs, fumbles grounder and is late with throw. Glenn Russell stretches in vain attempt to accelerate play.

There I was last Sunday only a game behind your second place Red Sox. Then I go to New York. Now I come here in fifth place trailing this Boston bunch by 4 games.

I don't mind so much being beaten by the Yanks. They're a great ball club. But it does burn me up when I drop three games to them that I ought to win. That's what happens over there. We can't get a break and is that Wonderboy guy right? say we're done in by the umps.

"We have a three run lead in the first game. But we let it go for behind. We're six runs in front in the second game, but again we finish second best. I don't see that heartbreaker through. I question the eyesight of an ump and immediately I'm given the heave ho.

I'm next to blind with rage that night but I can still read and you can bet it doesn't make me any happier to see where in those two tilts the Yanks made eighteen runs. Or can you?

GET JUMP AGAIN

"Yesterday we get in front for the third straight afternoon and for the third straight afternoon we end up back of the eight ball.

"Well sir, I haven't put in three such days since I broke in some 20 years back on an Athletics team that tried out more ball players than it gained victories.

"What's more somebody is going to pay for the shabby treatment I suffered in New York, and it may as well be the Red Sox as anybody else."

GAME OFF

Today's game between the Red Sox and White Sox, scheduled at Fenway Park was called off shortly after noon because of rain and cold weather. A single game will be played with the White Sox tomorrow and a double header will be played Sunday with the same club.

but they're wisely preparing for much stiffer opposition than was offered them by the St. Louis Browns.

On paper you'd hesitate to swap the [illegible] for the Yanks, but they're not playing baseball on paper. [illegible] Missourians at this writing is that Dykes is a managerial wizard.

DYKES REAL MANAGER

"Jeems" has repeatedly proved that he can accomplish more with less than any other pilot in the business.

Dykes so directs and inspires it that it clings tenaciously to the theory of "the other guy" and he forces himself treasure to read during tight spots.

If the Sox are to break better than ever, they must [illegible] here Sunday, which carries the engagement, they must take all three verdicts from the Pale Hose.

And they have to fight to do it.

Sports Mirror

TODAY'S YEAR AGO: Cleveland Indians defeated New York Yankees 8-3 and 7-1 before 84,000 at Cleveland Stadium to stretch American League lead to 5½ games and drop New York into third.

THREE YEARS AGO: Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, number two ranking player in U. S., eliminated in first days play of British championships by Marie Horn of Germany.

FIVE YEARS AGO: Southern California with 12 qualifiers led N. C. A. A. eliminations at Los Angeles as John Lyman Stanford and Jack Torrance of U. S. C. both bettered record shattering mark with heaves of 53 feet 1 inches.

ROUTINE PLAY

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

AFTER PLAYING Paddy's Sister to win in the eighth race at Suffolk Downs, I should hesitate in handing you the winner of the four mile crew race between Harvard and Yale at New London this evening. I always look to the future with hope, and so I name the Crimson to finish first [illegible] Harvard crew at Cambridge. [illegible] has defeated every crew it has met this year. Harvard has been primed for the meeting with Yale which will be staged as usual [illegible] over the Thames at New London.

There is color and thrill to this four-mile battle between Harvard and Yale. There is no other athletic contest in which such spirit is injected into whom as a four mile crew race. [illegible] takes all the pep out of the young man who enters the [illegible] races.

[illegible] of football [illegible] Harvard and Yale [illegible] of dollars and [illegible] of the occasion.

Harvard-Yale crowds are distinctive, and display true college spirit. Even the followers of the defeated crew will have a happy evening as thousands of parties are staged at New London.

I believe the Harvard parties will have an extra touch of merriment as toasts are offered to Tommy Bolles and his gallant crew. Now if I am wrong remember that I bet on Paddy's Sister, and that animal didn't even bite her way into the show spot.

Cobbling and Baseball

Baseball owes a debt to Lou Gehrig. The New York Yankees should find a spot for him, and not bring shame to themselves as they did by their shabby treatment of Babe Ruth. The Yankees kissed Babe off to the Braves glad to have him on a payroll other than their own.

Gehrig has been well paid as a ball player but that should be enough sentiment to the national pastime to care for the Iron Horse.

No Hose

There is not even a hose for the workmen at the Carolina avenue playground, Jamaica Plain, to use to keep down the dust caused by the cinders and dirt. There is not any loam for the workmen to use to fill in the big holes at the catcher's and pitcher's boxes. Why workmen if they have not the tool with which to work?

Find Trout Partial To Sea Worms

By DARK MONTREAL

Ever use sea worms for fresh water fishing? Neither did I but I'm going to try them as a result of this yarn from Bill Jones

[illegible] Arthur Evans Page of Auburndale and son James, staged a summering at Pleasant are giving the Buzzards Bay tauting and scrap a bad season. Young Jimmy caught his first scrap the other day handled him well and now there's another potential fishing nut at large. Best June fish reported from Monument is an 8½ pound salmon taken in Spencer Bay by Clifford North of Andover. Grey Ghost has been the best fly on the lake this year.

[illegible]

From this wisdom the Massachusetts Fish & Game Association appears to have moved smartly in its opposition to the bill that would establish conservation districts and all godly conservation measure that would strip citizens of the state of their inherent rights in their own land. Arthur B. Barlow association president has proposed that the Legislature submit title for the bill a measure setting up an unpaid commission to study the problems of wild life reforestation hurricane damage soil erosion flood control etc.

Letter From the Creel

Dark Montreal
Boston American
Dear Sir

In return for past favors, I am hereby letting you in on one of the most elusive discoveries of the season. This one is about striped bass.

Last Sunday June 18 Frank Bartel and I went a-fishin for stripers down on Cape Cod. We started out with the desire to try some new location and possibly a new type of fishing.

We had enough gear with us to catch all the stripers in Buzzards Bay and among the items rods we had our Montagues which is an all purpose rod. It can be used as a very good surf caster or as a rugged fly rod simply by removing the butt piece and changing lines.

We had heard rumors from several local residents about a spot in upper Buttermilk Bay, that on a certain tide would produce stripers every time so we found our way to the Narrows after much questioning and a few pants up wrong roads. The tide was on the way in and by the time we reached the east shore the bass were arriving in great numbers as withessed by the scattering spurting at the rises in their midst.

The regular method of clam worms in the current failed to produce. Then we tried our heavy surf casting artificials and had no luck so we decided to try the Montagues with its lighter and more active lures. We finally managed to take one fish on an Al Foss pork rind wiggler.

This led us to believe that we might do something with flies so we changed to fly line and put on a long tarpon streamer dressed to look like a small mackerel. From then on it was just a case of seeing who could get the largest fish and the surest aim. Five and one half pounds seemed to be the prevailing size and although this is not a large fish when twelve of them have been taken on a nine and one half foot eight ounce rod in three hours you have done more work than you do all week at the office.

Should you or any of your readers desire any further information about the place and how to fish it I shall be very pleased to give all the help I can.

Sincerely,
Sumner A. Towne,
237 Washington st., Brookline

thirds of the Cubs are doing our best. "The rest of them ain't pullin' our weight."

This is exasperating to Gabby Hartnett, whose managerial job is hanging by a whisker. But it must be a big stomach laugh to Frank Frisch, the Boston radio spouter, who handled Dean for so many years like an indulgent spouse dealing with a hysterical helpmeet. It must also be irritating to Owner Paul Wrigley. Recently Paul wrote an open letter to a Chicago sports writer in which he said, "It is always a little disconcerting to me to have it so forcibly brought home from time to time that the winning team, which belongs to everybody, is so exclusively mine when it is losing."

There has been curbstone gossip for some time about dugout dissension among the Cubs, evidenced by exchange of snarls between the players over misplays. But that, in my book, is no evidence at all. The hardest fighting teams in baseball history have been those, like the Braves of 1914, the Giants of 1923 and the Cubs of 1909, clubs that were riddled by feuds and when the players blistered each other on the field.

Times have changed. I have heard elder players bewail the present tendency of players to salve a floundering pitcher with such endearments as "Atta boy" and "Nice going, baby." In the older time, when a pitcher faltered, men like Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville used to march into the box and remove a pitcher's skin with a torrent of profanity. They'd cite his lemon colored streak and charge him with intestinal decay.

The effect was usually high voltage. The angry pitcher forgot his momentary fluster under pressure of his wrath. But after the game he and Johnny or the Rabbit went off to share beer.

SOME INKLING OF LOU GEHRIG'S loss to baseball is shown in the records which he set up during his 15 years as a Yankee. Here they are:

1. Most years playing 150 games or more—12. 2. Most years having scored 100 or more runs—13. 3. Most years leading his league in runs batted in—5 (tie with Ruth). 4. Most years having batted in 150 or more runs—7. 5. Most extra bases in a game—12. 6. Most years having hit .300 total bases—13. 7. Most years leading in home runs—12 (tied with Ruth). 8. Most homers in one game—4. 9. Most home runs with the bases filled—23.

Bill Klem Stricken In Hotel

CINCINNATI, June 23 (INS)—The recurrence of an abdominal condition may shortly write finis to the colorful career of Bill Klem, baseball's famous old umpire, it was learned today.

Bill Klem

The venerable National League dean of umpires was suddenly stricken here following the Dodgers-Reds night game and was confined to his hotel room suffering what was described as "excruciating pain."

Arrangements were being made for Klem's removal to St. Louis where, it is feared, Dr. Robert E. Hyland, noted baseball surgeon, will be called upon to operate.

A condition suffered ten years ago has returned to the 65-year-old Klem, according to Doc Wilson, trainer of the Dodgers, who visited Klem this morning. Trainer Wilson said the "injury is both serious and very painful."

Mrs. Klem, here with her husband, planned to drive the old "Arbitrator" to St. Louis in the family chariot, but the scheme was vetoed because Klem's condition is acute.

St. Alphonsus Plays Murphy's

St. Alphonsus A. A. after beating South Boston in a garrison finish last night at Fens Stadium, visits the Murphy Club of Brighton tonight. Marty McDermott, pitching mainstay of the Saints will be opposed by Jackowitz Star of the Sea drew a tie with Murphy at East Boston last night and tonight's engagement is with Bill Benson's St. Augustine Club at South Boston Stadium. The Southern Bostonians turned back St. Catherine's last night and will probably assign the chucking chore to Jack Thompson.

Joe McCarthy takes his St. Catherine Club to Fallon Field in Roslindale in the third twi tussle and Holy Name will be the foe at the suburb superb, while back home at Barry Field, the other entry from Bunker Hill, Navy Yard A. A., awaits Dick Casey's Club, by whom they were beaten last night at Neponset with Charlie Wedemeyer taking the hurling honors.

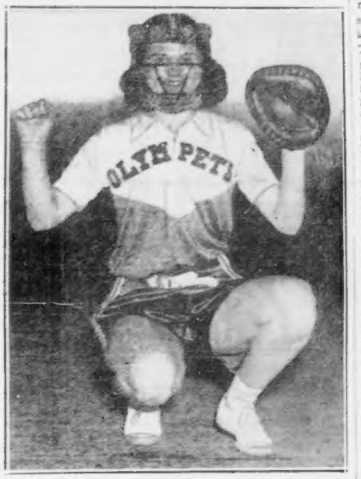
OLYMPETS MEET BROOKLYN GIRLS

The Boston Olympets make their fourth Boston Garden appearance of the year tonight when they test their skill against the Isonomy Girls from Brooklyn, N. Y., in the feature game of a slated double bill.



CLOSED FIST AND ALL. Dorothy Green, Olympets catcher, crouches in approved major league fashion as she waits pitcher's throw. Olympets play Isonomy team from Brooklyn at Garden tonight in feature game of twin bill.

The preliminary game will see the Gardenias and the Taunton Terriers from Brockton meet in a battle that gets under way at 7:45.

There will be a one-hour time limit on the first game which means that the Isonomy and Olympet Girls will take the floor for their warmup drill at 8:45 p. m. The second game will get going at exactly 9 o'clock.

This week the Olympets will face another of those top Metropolitan League clubs. The Isonomy Girls come here with a record of two wins and one loss. They are in second place in the New York "Met" League. The Isonomy team is made up of youngsters of Polish descent.

Coach Jack Harris will give the Boston fans their first peek at his latest pitching find, Harriet Smith. Harriet has toed the mound but once this year.

Corcorans Dig Up New Angle | Dodgers Paid $25,000 For Mel Almada

By BILL GRIMES

Whether it was Freddie or Johnny Corcoran, I wouldn't know, but somebody has unearthed a "Sugar Daddy" for the Massachusetts open championship, which will be played next Monday and Tuesday at the Worcester Country Club . . .

Byron Nelson, the United States open titleholder; Horton Smith, one of the country's ranking pros; Gene Sarazen, a former National open titlist; Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C.; Lloyd Mangrum and Tony Penna haven't any Bay State affiliations which are binding enough to bring them to Worcester for a $400 first prize purse.

Ben Rudnick spooled his way to an "ace" at the sixth hole at the Pine Brook Valley Country Club recently while playing with Abe Seidler and Mike Rudnick . . . And, while on the subject of Pine Brook Valley, the golf committee is seriously considering installing a watering system.

And Mrs. Sidney Rogal's 37 to the turn in the finals of the club championship against Mrs. Eli Brilliant was one of the lowest nine-ever scored by a woman golfer . . . Her out card was 5 4 4 2 5 3 4 5 5—37 . . . If it takes it for seven holes.

DOC CRAMER

Bill Hunnefield and his four girls' soft ball teams will play at Pemberton Corner, now . . . For the first time in his baseball career, Joe Cronin led off for the Red Sox yesterday . . . "Doc" Cramer is the best lead-off man on the Sox roster, but he has been hitting so well in the No. 2 spot that it would have been too much of a gamble to move him up a peg, so Manager Joe started the ball rolling.

RICH BACK ON HILL

Woody Rich pitched in batting practice and reported that his arm felt fine . . . Just as soon as his whip gets strong Woody will take his turn on the hill-top.

The Boston College football coaches' school will be in session next week, from Monday through Friday . . . Head Coach Frank Leahy, and two of his assistants, Ed McKeever and Johnny Druze, Leo "Duke" Mayer, Texas Christian University, and Carl Snavely, Cornell, will orate on the gridiron game.

Jack Ryder, B. C. who is the best authority in his line in the country, will talk on track and field events; John "Snooks" Kelley, the Eagles' hockey mentor, will tell about the "fastest game on earth," and Bill Kennelly, Chelsea High, has been selected to give some inside dope on basketball . . .

The Brooklyn Dodgers paid the St. Louis Browns $25,000 for Mel Almada . . . The Bees would have gambled with the former Red Sox outfielder but not for 25 Gs . . .

Jim Tabor

Johnny Whitehead was lucky that his glove happened to be in the path of the line drive that Jimmy Foxx hit back at him yesterday . . .

Jim Turner, the Bees pitcher, who was flattened by Goodman of the Reds, was in a box and saw Whitehead miss serious injury . . . Tommy Carey has been a very handy man for the Red Sox . . . He has given a very fine account of himself while filling in for Bobby Doerr . . . Joe Cleary is one of the most ardent Jim Tabor rooters . . . Tabor is "tops" of all third sackers the Red Sox have had in more than a decade according to Geary . . .

Win Green has gone back noticably as a baseball player since he left the old Columbus Ave Playgrounds . . . "Greenie" was almost "skilled" while trying to catch a Texas Leaguer and then ruined his nice white pants when he attempted to stop a ground ball in the outfield . . .

"Ike Boone" was back at Fenway Park yesterday morning . . . He played for the Scribes against Johnny Orlando's All-Star under the name of Harold Vincent "Bob" Coyne . . . He's the same old Ike for he allowed a single to go for a home run . . .

Frankie Frisch is all set to enter the wholesale coaster business . . . He must have "aired" the fact that he's "allergic" to that marine macrural crustacean for at least a dozen fans notified him yesterday that they were sending him some Jumboes . . .

CHISOX INSTALL LIGHTS

John Kieran wrote a masterpiece on Lou Gehrig . . . The White Sox will install lights, which will be ready by August . . . One bad pitch to Augie Galan cost the Bees yesterday's game with the Cubs . . . The Charles River Country Club will close for the winter months on November 1 . . . Digby Dick McDonough, the pride of Annapolis Valley, must have slipped Frankie Frisch some no "caps," no commas, no paragraph scripts . . . But after what went out over the air yesterday Digby Dick will be more careful with his copy from now on. No more two timing for Dick . . . He'll shout straight and keep aloof from all fire places . . . Dorchester Bill Stewart, Boston's gift to the umpiring profession, caught Al Simmons belittling him to the Wrigley Field fans yesterday, after being called out on strikes, and Alphonse didn't have any competition when he took his shower.

Extra! Tendler Picks Galento To Whip Louis

SUMMIT, N. J., June 23 (INS)—First expert observer flatly to pick Tony Galento to defeat Joe Louis for the world heavyweight championship next Wednesday night is Lew Tendler, famous lightweight of another era.

"Virtually every one who has fought Louis has had the jitters, but Galento will be unafraid and furthermore he can take a punch," said Tendler, now a Philadelphia business man. "In my opinion Galento will win the championship from Louis by a knockout."

Jim Braddock, who floored Louis and went eight rounds before losing the championship to the current kingpin, said:

"I've been up to Louis' camp, and he doesn't look any too good to me. I think Tony has an excellent chance of winning. He's game and he can hit."

Swifty SAYS:

"That saucy Royal Rube has been giving me the run around. Five times he's chased me home ahead of the pack and now I see they're sending him after me again Saturday. Wow! . . . what a Job I've got this year!"

Lager Ale Ruling Wonderland Dog

By GREYHOUND

Lager Ale, in the third at Wonderland tonight, shapes up as the best bet on an attractive card. Being a fast breaker, the No. 5 box will prove no handicap to this speedy pup which should be out front at the first turn.

BEST BET—GOLD MINE

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY
(First Half Daily Double)
CRACK UP, DOUBLE DOWN, VITEX

PP.	Dog	Odds	Wt.	Owner
4	Crack Up	3-1	56½	E. L. Brunts
2	Double Down	6-1	59	Frank Lane
3	Vitex	4-1	65	W. L. Bryant
7	Montclair Boy	6-1	68	Pat Gavan
6	Red Flame	10-1	65	T. Cook
5	By Gracious	10-1	68	E. Rhine
1	My Hi Maid	10-1	63	Tom Baird
8	Mack	12-1	63	Paul Boone

CRACK UP, DOUBLE DOWN has already been a winner at the meeting I am taking CRACK UP to win this event with VITEX try the third dog in the money.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY
(Second Half Daily Double)
PETE DOOLEY, FLIGHT LEADER, UPSIDE CLO

4	Pete Dooley	3-1	63	E. Harmon
3	Flight Leader	4-1	65	Otto Wohlauf
5	Upside Clo	4-1	58	Ted Lippold
1	Don Lash	6-1	64	Oscar Dahlberg
7	Big Grand	5-1	65	Jess Williams
1	Merivale	10-1	57½	F. B. Stutz
8	V. J.	10-1	63	Bro. Neal Jr
6	Fourth Ave.	12-1	60½	J. Highhouse

PETE DOOLEY needs only to break alertly to win all the marbles here. FLIGHT LEADER is dropping in class and could upset with UPSIDE CLO seemingly sure to be in the money.

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE
ERNST BOY, TRAFFIC TRAMP, GO FURTHER

3	Ernst Boy	5-1	68	E. Stephenson
5	Traffic Tramp	4-1	67	G. H. Rogers
4	Go Further	4-1	67	Jack Adams
8	Boy Ed	4-1	56½	F. Spencer
6	Jimmy Staf'd	10-1	66½	L. Kirkpatrick
1	Spicy White	10-1	63	Paul Boone
3	Vinalita	10-1	53½	E. Rhine
2	Pat Isbell	12-1	64½	Fred Street

ERNEST BOY won so impressively at the futurity distance that it would seem he must win here over the longer route. TRAFFIC TRAMP can force with GO FURTHER and a strong money contender.

FOURTH RACE—FUTURITY
BROWN STRING, VIGOROUS GAL, RESISTANCE

3	Brown String	3-1	63	Clyde Eno
7	Vigorous Gal	4-1	58	C. A. Rhodes
1	Resistance	4-1	72	Oscar Dahlberg
4	Idle Along	6-1	63	Tom Cook
6	Tex Sidew'y	8-1	66	M. T. Dubiel
2	Speedy Teal	10-1	64	Frank Land
8	Sleepy Goer	10-1	64	Fred Street
5	Tim's Court	12-1	64	L. Kirkpatrick

BROWN STRING is given the chance to win here over VIGOROUS GAL which has a win race to its credit. In its last BROWN STRING was hampered. RESISTANCE should be in the money.

FIFTH RACE—5-16 MILE
RANGEY RED, MOW EM DOWN, LOST LAMB

3	Rangy Red	3-1	72	G. Deragon
6	Mow Em D'n	4-1	62½	Art Wilson
1	Lost Lamb	4-1	58	G. Lippold Jr.
4	Silver Web	6-1	61	M. C. Sparks
5	Tip Off	8-1	66	Forbe Spencer
7	Check And'w	10-1	65	Ernest Kline
8	Mister And'w	10-1	64	Cedar P. Rex
2	Mauve	12-1	64	Tom Cook

RANGEY RED can race better than it has shown and with any sort of luck at the break should score. MOW EM DOWN has early foot and will be in there with LOST LAMB certain of being in the money.

SIXTH RACE—FUTURITY
CONA MARSH, RANAUGHARD, ANDREW MEADOWS

4	Cona Marsh	3-1	54	F. B. Stutz
2	Ranaughard	4-1	51	Ernest Kline
3	And Meadows	4-1	67	O. A. B. Rex
8	Crim'l Court	4-1	65	Seekonk Ken.
6	Knack	8-1	63	Frank Lane
7	Jubilant	10-1	62½	M. C. Sparks
1	Traffic Pat	10-1	65	G. H. Rogers
5	Dusty Ware	12-1	62	Fred Street

CONA MARSH is a fast pup and only needs a clean break to win all the way though RANAUGHARD comes highly touted. ANDREW MEADOWS is a speedster which cannot be overlooked.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
TOP TRAFFIC, SUPPLY OFFICER, FRANCY NANCY

1	Top Traffic	3-1	48	Frank Lane
8	Supply Officer	4-1	65	F. L. Brunts
3	Francy Nancy	4-1	68	L. Kirkpatrick
6	Noleen	6-1	51	Forbe Spencer
4	Apollo	8-1	60	Otto Wohlauf
5	Win Court	10-1	67	Jess Williams
2	Fluffy	10-1	66	J. Highhouse
1	Rowdy Gear	12-1	65	Fred Street

TOP TRAFFIC is a light dog and if not shuffled back at the break should win all the way. SUPPLY OFFICER has the weight and class to be handy with FRANCY NANCY, another lightweight, dangerous.

EIGHTH RACE—FUTURITY
SIDE WIND, MUTTON BROTH, KILNAGLORY TOFF

5	Side Wind	3-1	72	Jess Williams
3	Mutton Broth	4-1	66	Geo Deragon
7	Kilglory Toff	6-1	68	M. J. Gavan
8	Pluto Peter	8-1	63	Paul Boone
1	Local Court	6-1	68	F. B. Stutz
6	Prophecy	10-1	65	J. B. Hatso
4	Fox J.	10-1	63	J. Highhouse
2	Spooky Lady	10-1	63	O. A. B. Rex

Though SIDE WIND bowed to Mad Money in its last outing there are those who insist the Jess Williams pup is the one and why the best of this lot. MUTTON BROTH needs only to break to make a race of it, with KILNAGLORY TOFF a money chance.

NINTH RACE—5-16 MILE
GOLD MINE, SNOW DOWN, ARMY BANNER

5	Gold Mine	3-1	60	G. H. Rogers
6	Snow Down	4-1	63½	F. L. Brunts
3	Army Banner	6-1	62	J. B. Hatso
2	Headstone Pat	6-1	57	O. A. B. Rex
7	Ashmo	8-1	60	Paul Boone
8	Little Hazard	8-1	58	Seekonk Ken.
4	Fairy Jim	10-1	72	J. B. Ayotte
1	Sweet Tw'zer	12-1	61½	G. Lippold Jr.

GOLD MINE, which has a little breaking for some of its last trip, should repeat for it looks like gold in them thar legs.

TENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
SCARRED LADY, JUST CHINITA, THELMA II

1	Scarred Lady	1-2	53	J. B. Hatso
4	Just Chinita	4-1	54	W. L. Bryant
5	Thelma II	4-1	56	E. Harmon
3	Lemon Sky	6-1	63	Forbe Spencer
2	Meadow Girl	6-1	73	M. C. Sparks
6	Sally Tim	10-1	54	L. Kirkpatrick
8	Rondabout	10-1	63	Cedar P. Rex
7	Rip Terror	12-1	58	Art Wilson

SCARRED LADY is just was a good race all the way and off in the money like this last time this summer. JUST CHINITA could upset with THELMA II a money choice.

Yesterday's Heroes
